ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The back traction and muscle stretching bench has inclined bench panel to support the thigh area of a user in a prone position on the bench, and a bench panel for supporting a horizontal to downwardly the user's torso in Traction is applied to the spine of a user lying supporting bench panel prone on the bench. The torso adjustable to vary the degree of traction applied. supporting assembly provides padded rollers that may be used to place an additional downward force on the users legs while in the prone position, thereby increasing the degree of traction applied to the spine. The leg supporting assembly is adjustable to place the padded rollers in a higher or lower vertical position, thereby varying the degree of traction imparted by the rollers.

15

1.0

5

LITMAN LAW OFFICES, LTD. P.O. BOX 15035 ARLINGTON, VA 22215 (703) 486-1000